U. S. Expels Three Russians For Espionage

Lords Valley, Palmerton RD Men Killed

AN ELDERLY Lords Valley driver and a Palmerton RD 1 motorcyclist were injured fatally in separate accidents in the Pocono area over the weekend.

The victims: Hank Rollison, 72, Lords Valley, Pike County, who died at 5:15 p. m. yesterday at Port Jervis, N. Y. Hospital; and Walter Bonser, 26, Palmerton RD 1, killed about 5 p. m. near his home in Carbon County.

THE LORDS VALLEY crash occurred at 12:20 p. m. in front of Rollison's home. Milford Trooper Edwin A. Pearce said Rollison was starting to make a turn into the driveway of his residence and evidently made a wide swing.

His car was struck in the rear corner by John G. Natzak, Newark, N. J., Pearce said. The Rollison car was shoved into a culvert, and driven up on the lawn next door, police said. The Natzak auto hit the culvert head-on, caving in the front end of the car.

DAMAGES were estimated at a total $700. Rollison's daughter escaped injury.

In the other car, Natzak suffered chin injuries and possible fractured ribs; his wife, Ernestine, cuts on the left arm and leg, face, and possible internal injuries; and his son, John, 8, cuts on the face. All three of the Natzaks were taken to Honesdale Hospital by passing motorists. The Natzaks were also treated for shock.

ROLLISON suffered shock, and fractures of the collarbone, ribs and cheekbone. He was placed in an oxygen tent upon reaching the hospital.

Police are continuing their investigation of the accident details. An autopsy was scheduled for today to determine the exact cause of Rollison's death. Coroner Jack Bullock, Milford, said the autopsy would be performed by Dr. Lewis Kaplan at Port Jervis Hospital.

Police said any legal aspects of the case would hinge in part on the coroner's finding.

THE OTHER fatality occurred on Route 209, two or three miles from the Monroe County border, according to Lehigh State police.

Police said Bonser was one of a group of seven motorcyclists. His wheel went off the highway and onto the shoulder of the road. In attempting to get back on the hard surface, the motorcycle upset and threw its rider.

Bonser was dead on arrival at Gnadon Huetten Hospital in Lehigh. The hospital notified State police.

The body was released to James funeral home, Palmerton.

BONSER made his home with an aunt, Miss Helen Fogel.

Surviving are his mother and stepfather, Mr. and Mrs. Willard Hoets, Weissport; a stepbrother, Catherine, and stepbrother, Edward, both of Weissport; maternal grandmother, Mrs. Frank Allen, Bangor; maternal great-grandmother, Mrs. John Fogel, Palmerton RD 1; paternal grandfather, Calvin Bonser, Palmerton RD 1.

He was a member of Bowmanstown Fire Co. and Zinc City Motor Club; and of St. John's Reformed Church, Towamensing.

He was an employee of Baer Silk Co., Lehigh.

Services will be at 2 p. m. Friday at the funeral home, with Rev. R. E. Kutz officiating. Burial will be at Towamensing Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home after 7 p. m. Thursday.

Bullets, Bottles Fly In Brooklyn

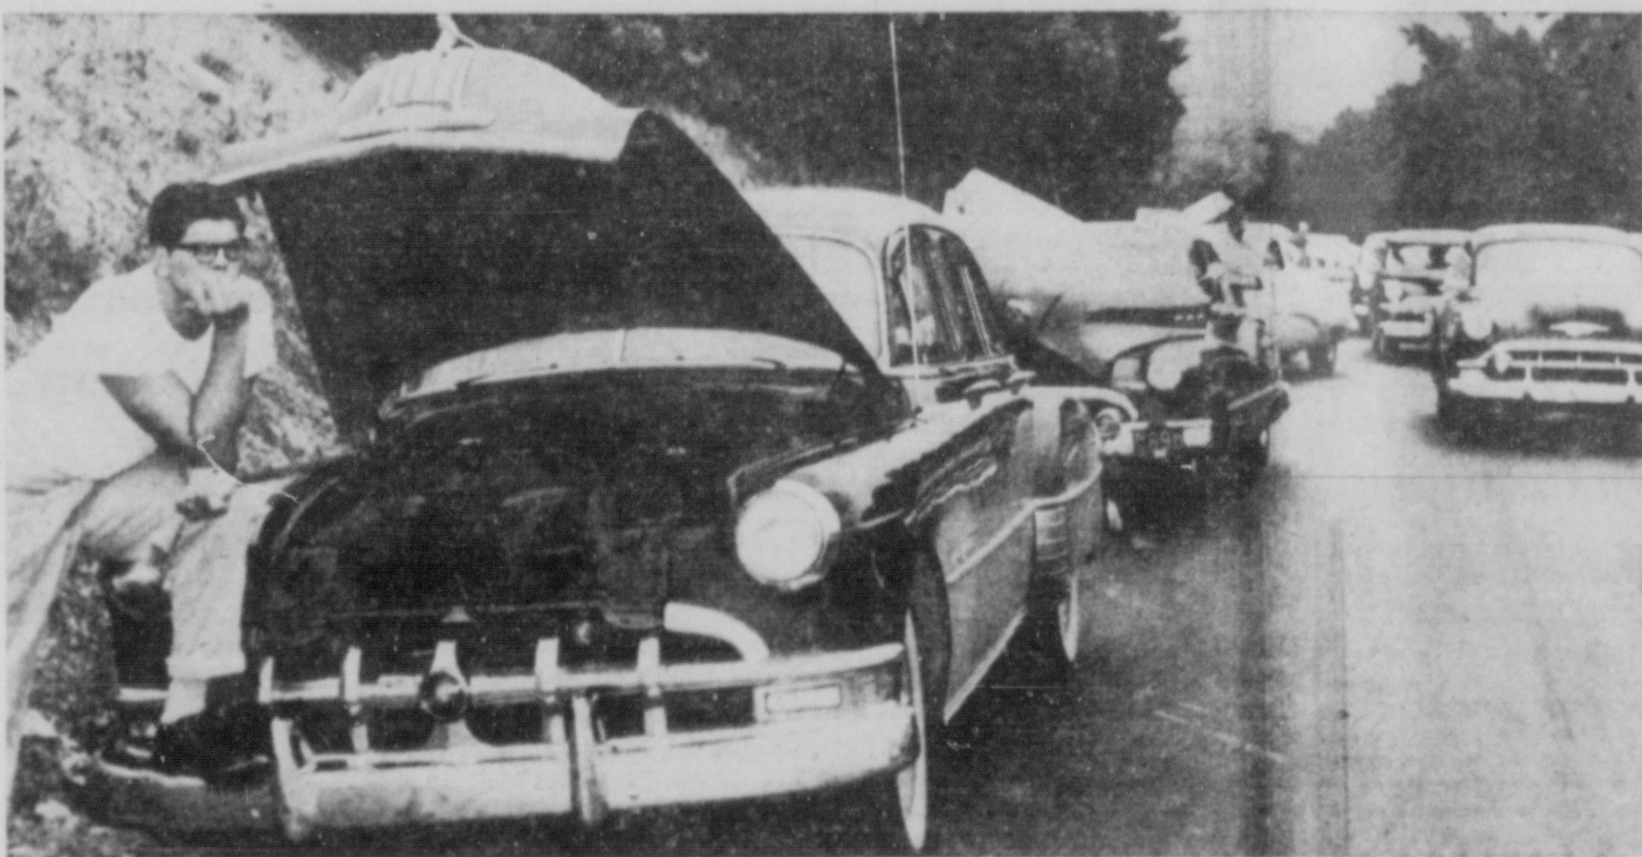

NEW YORK (AP)—Three men objected yesterday when a Brooklyn policeman stopped three boys from shooting off firecrackers, and a wild battle of bullets and beer bottles resulted.

Fifteen shots were exchanged, and bottles were hurled out of windows at the officer.

Brick walls were chipped and automobiles were gashed. Fully 2,000 persons were attracted to the battle scene, but only one was injured. Police said he was Austin Allyn, 20, who started the shooting.

Fewer Traffic Fatalities Than Predicted Reported Over Long Holiday Weekend

By the Associated Press

IT APPEARED LAST night that the long July Fourth holiday weekend would end with the traffic death toll admirably below expectations.

Millions of Americans headed homeward from beaches, resorts, state parks and out-of-town visits creating the giant traffic movement that signifies the end of a holiday period—and often a surging death toll.

As the 78-hour Independence Day holiday drew to a close late last night, an Associated Press survey showed that 525 persons were killed in violent accidents. Of these, 301 lost their lives in traffic mishaps, 158 by drowning, and 66 in a variety of accidents.

THE NATIONAL Safety Council, taking cognizance of heavy highway travel, made a preholiday prediction that at least 430 persons would be killed in automobile accidents.

"Congratulations to the drivers on a good job," said Ned H. Dearborn, council president, on learning of the relatively low traffic toll.

Dearborn cautiously warned of last minute carelessness and said that unless there is "an inconceivable surge of accidents" in the holiday's waning hours the nation could congratulate itself on making it a safe and sane one.

FIREWORKS, once counted a major hazard of Independence Day celebrations, killed three youngsters.

Walter Kessler, 15, of Ebensburg, Pa., died of burns over his entire body suffered when a drum containing gasoline exploded as he attempted to light a firecracker. A

Men And Tractor Rush Water To Aid Of Overheated Cars Inching Way Up Crowded Hill

STROUDSBURG'S TRAFFIC strangle resulted in hundreds of dollars in damages to 40 to 50 automobiles over the July Fourth holiday weekend.

Slowed and jammed together from Seventh and Main Sts., Stroudsburg, where Route 611 traffic collided with equally heavy Route 209 traffic, motorists suddenly found themselves stranded on Foxtown Hill with overheated motors.

Backed in two and three lanes, almost to the borough limits of Delaware Water Gap, automobiles became overheated as they inched along up the steep grade and boiled away the liquid in their cooling systems.

BENNETT STRAIT, supervisor of special education in this region, noted the plight of the tourists as he headed toward his home near Water Gap. He decided to do something to help the hapless vacationers.

With Rev. Luther E. Markin, minister of the Presbyterian Church at Delaware Water Gap, Strait rigged up a large steel drum on the back of a farm tractor and filled it with water.

Strait said he and Mr. Markin managed to reach the cars stranded in the ditch and on the highway near the crest of Foxtown Hill, near Gap View Inn by traveling the berm on the south side of the highway.

A SIGN on the steel tank made it plain the water was free—"a donation from the Presbyterian Church" at Water Gap.

That didn't stop many grateful motorists from making their donation to the church in return for the water. Such gifts ran as high as $5. Others, as burned up as their motors were, barely said "thank you."

Both Mr. Strait and Mr. Markin said some cars failed to respond. Wreckers hauled them away. One hauled back down to Water Gap, failed to start after cooling off overnight.

MR. MARKIN said every two or three cars in line were affected and he estimated that a total of 40 to 50 vehicles were stranded when he and Mr. Strait arrived with their water supply about 2 p. m. Saturday.

Strait said the same thing has happened many times in the past and that there had been jesting discussions about "selling water," but the situation was so aggravated Saturday that a serious attempt was made to aid the unfortunate motorists—free.

"Most of them were very grateful and acted as if the water was a God-send," Rev. Markin said. He noted that the cars were "bumper to bumper" with some of them "pulled out in the ditch along the road."

10 Persons Injured On Highways

TWO WERE killed and 10 injured in 12 area traffic accidents over the holiday weekend.

Damages were heavy—an estimated $7,335, for the cars involved in violent accidents. Hundreds of dollars more were estimated as the cost of repair bills for overheated motors in the sluggish crawl of traffic between Delaware Water Gap and Stroudsburg.

The two largest boroughs escaped with no accidents. Stroudsburg Police Chief James F. McConnell described the traffic as "heavy as it's ever been. It was terrific on Friday and Saturday. Sunday and yesterday there weren't any tie-ups, but the traffic was pretty thick and steady."

HE SAID two extra policemen were put on duty to handle the extra traffic load through the borough.

East Stroudsburg reported steady, heavy traffic, but required no extra police.

A total of 17 vehicles were involved in the wrecks—one of them a motorcycle.

The operator of the motorcycle was killed in a crash on Route 209 across the border in Carbon County. The other fatality resulted from a wreck at Lords Valley, Pike County.

Six investigations were chalked up by Stroudsburg State police, with rain-wet roads accounting for several of them.

TWO WERE on Saturday, when traffic was still flowing heavily into the region.

Morris Pockell, New York City, ran off the road on Route 402 a mile west of Marshalls Creek at 11:35 a. m. He said the accident occurred when he tried to avoid hitting a dog which was crossing the road. Damages to the car were estimated at $200.

Two cars collided as they passed at 8:35 p. m. on Route 209 at Echo Lake, State police said. Drivers were estimated at $85. Damages were Margot J. Bribbin, Sea Cliff, N. J., and Robert A. Clair, Philadelphia, troopers said. They were uninjured.

ON SUNDAY a $900 single-car accident occurred at 9:50 a. m. on Route 209 near East Stroudsburg Airport when the auto of Gerald Brady, 35, New York City salesman, skidded on the rainy pavement and crashed into a tree.

Stroudsburg troopers said the car plunged down an embankment before hitting the tree. The car was demolished, police said.

Injured was Brady, with a possible broken nose, and broken right cheekbone and right rib; and his wife, Evelyn, 37, with a broken left collarbone. Both were taken to General Hospital, East Stroudsburg.

AT 4:25 P. M. the same day two people escaped injury in a Route 45004 accident near Saylor's Lake which also occurred on rainy pavement.

Police said the car of Glenn M. Werkheiser, 18, a Marine from 205 N. Ninth St., Stroudsburg, skidded into the parked car of Louis H. Kay, 50, Jamaica, N. Y. salesman, and shoved it through a fence on the property of Florence Warner, Saylor'sburg.

Damages were $200 to Werkheiser's car, $350 to the parked car and an estimated $50 to the fence.

A THIRD Sunday accident occurred three miles east of East Stroudsburg on Route 402 at 9:30 a. m. Police said Harry S. McDowell Jr., of Philadelphia, skidded in the rain and grazed a tree, then

Seven Soldiers Believed Held By Czech Reds

HEIDELBERG, GERMANY (AP)—A U. S. Army spokesman said yesterday seven American soldiers missing since Sunday night were believed captured by Czech Communist border guards.

West German border police said they had heard unofficially the Communists planned to return the men today.

The spokesman said a half-ton weapons carrier which had been occupied by six soldiers and their captain was found abandoned near Weiden, a town about 15 miles from the Czech border.

"We are certain the men are not in West Germany," the spokesman said. "They are across the border."

The spokesman said the men probably stepped over the border accidentally and were nabbed by the border guards. No trace has been found of the seven.

The weapons carrier was found by a U. S. border patrol Sunday night.

Truce Talks Go Forward In Indochina

HANOI, INDOCHINA (AP)—French Union and Vietnamese delegates ended their second meeting yesterday on details of a cease-fire agreement to end the Indochina war. Informed sources here said the talks concerned technical questions relating to regroupment of forces in event of a cease-fire, but gave no details.

There was no official statement on whether progress had been achieved. The talks opened Sunday in the village of Trung Gia.

The delegations will refer their recommendations here to the Indonesian conference at Geneva.

MEANWHILE, the French High Command in Hanoi announced that the reorganization of its military forces in the Red River Delta area was complete with a strong protective ring formed around the cities of Hanoi and Haiphong and the road and railroad connecting them.

The announcement said the regrouping organization "was carried out in good conditions and our losses were extremely light."

In carrying out the reorganization, French and Vietnamese troops were pulled out of a large area at the southern end of the delta, abandoning thousands of acres of rich rice land and the local population to the Communist-led Vietminh. Some 30 battalions of troops were pulled back and about 30,000 civilians evacuated during the 10-day operation.

A chef on his way to work at a resort between Marshalls Creek and Echo Lake at 4:30 p. m. yesterday on Route 209 escaped injury in a crash resulting when he "blacked out" at the wheel, Stroudsburg troopers said.

Reds React By Ousting 2 Americans

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States disclosed yesterday it has expelled three Russian officials from this country for "espionage and improper activities."

Two of the three were ejected months ago, but the State Department had kept all three cases secret in what was explained as an attempt to keep the Russians from retaliating.

THE ATTEMPT failed, and the Russians are now ousting two American attaches from Moscow. Russia accused the two Americans, Lt. Col. Howard L. Felchlin and Maj. Walter McKinney, of making use of their stay in the Soviet Union "to carry out espionage work."

The Russians who were expelled were:

CMDR. IGOR A. AMOSOV, assistant naval attaché at the Soviet Embassy here. He was declared personally unacceptable to the United States on Feb. 3 and left on Feb. 8.

Alexander P. Kovylov, second secretary with the Soviet delegation to the United Nations. He was told to leave Feb. 3 and left Feb. 10.

Lt. Col. Leonid E. Pivney, assistant air attaché at the embassy. He left on June 6 after having been told on May 29 he would have to go.

COL. FELCHLIN was the assistant U. S. military attaché in Moscow and Maj. McKinney was assistant air attaché.

"No foundation whatsoever" exists for the Russian charges against them, the State Department said, adding:

"It is obvious that the Soviet authorities have taken this action in retaliation for the expulsion in recent months of three Soviet officials for espionage and improper activities in this country."

OFFICIALS said the election of McKinney and Felchlin was the first such action since the Kremlin barred Ambassador George Kennan in October 1952 in protest over critical remarks he made about life in Moscow. He was in Germany at the time.

Cambodians To Demand Red Retreat

GENEVA (AP)—A six-man Cambodian military group arrived here yesterday prepared to demand the retreat of Communist-led Vietminh troops from the Indochina kingdom's territory.

The group headed by Gen. Nhek-Tioulong of the Cambodian general staff, told correspondents on arrival Cambodia's only aim was the "protection of our frontier from invading forces."

The general and other members of the delegation to the nine-party Indochina conference said the group expects to meet with Vietminh military representatives today or Wednesday to study the withdrawal of foreign troops from Cambodia.

Seeks Harmony

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Lt. Gov. Lloyd H. Wood, Republican nominee for governor, said yesterday he will be in Allegheny County "not later" than July 27 to explore the possibilities of Republican county harmony.

Mrs. Albertson Stranded In Hotel Elevator, Rides Up And Down 10 Stories For 45 Minutes

FATE STRUCK Mrs. Georgia Albertson in an elevator again and this time she and four other women passed out.

It happened to the Stroudsburg woman in Harrisburg during the VFW district convention, and it wasn't very funny when the battering ram came charging at the steel doors.

Stroudsburg VFW steward Russell Hoffman was in the lobby of the Penn-Harris when a stretcher went by with one of the victims on it. "Like the dress Mrs. Albertson was wearing," he said to Charlie Nevil.

BUT NEVIL said no, getting stuck in an elevator could never happen to the same person twice in one year and Russ might just as well not get himself upset. That was the part which seemed funny last night to Mrs. Albertson as she soothed her fractured nerves at her home. But, she said, it wasn't very funny at the time.

This is what happened:

MRS. ALBERTSON got on the elevator with 12 other people and the girl operator. The doors closed, and off they started about noon Saturday. But the outer doors which open on the lobby and at each of the 10 floors refused to open.

For the next 45 minutes the 14 people rode up and down from lobby to 10th floor and back. None of the doors would work.

There was no alarm button in the elevator, said Mrs. Albertson, and no telephone. And if there was an escape hatch it wasn't used, she said.

It got mighty hot in the elevator. There were four men along and the rest were women and the girl operator. Mrs. Albertson said a young nurse at the hotel told a bellboy something must be wrong with the elevator because it had been going up and down for 45 minutes and not a soul had gotten off or on.

HE SAID NO, that wasn't likely, and stroled away. Mrs. Albertson said. But after a while another guest noticed something too, and finally the management

Martial Law To Rule During Election Today

OKLAHOMA City, AP — A bitter U. S. Senate race and a wide open governor's contest highlight Oklahoma's primary election today, being held against the backdrop of martial law in five eastern counties.

Gov. Johnston Murray called out the National Guard to supervise voting in the counties after criminal charges of election irregularities were filed against 10 persons. Murray also announced yesterday that plainclothesmen will be assigned to certain precincts in Oklahoma County—including Oklahoma City—election day.

Use of the guard is to prevent any voting frauds and not because of anticipated trouble. One guardsman will be assigned to each of the 197 precincts in Sequoyah, Adair, Le Flore, Pittsburg and Cherokee Counties. They will be unarmed but will have authority to make arrests.

Calling of the guard has almost overshadowed interest in the races in the closing day.

The Democratic race for senator has narrowed to a bitter fight between Sen. Robert S. Kerr and former Gov. Roy J. Turner. Seven other candidates in the race have drawn little interest and the nomination may be to one of the major candidates without a runoff.

Both candidates are predicting victory by a margin of near 100,000 votes. Total Democratic vote today is estimated at about 500,000, slightly less than the 507,936 who voted in the 1950 primary election. The weather forecast is for rain and hot.

SIXTEEN Democrats, including the governor's wife—Mrs. Willie E. Murray—are in the wide open gubernatorial race. Murray is prohibited by the state constitution from succeeding himself.

State Sen. Raymond Gary, Madrid, has been picked by most observers to lead the first primary with a major scramble for second place in the runoff. William O. Coo, runnerup to Murray four years ago, is making another try for the office.

Republicans also have their primary races but the total GOP vote will probably not exceed 50,000. They have not stirred up nearly as much interest as the Democrats.

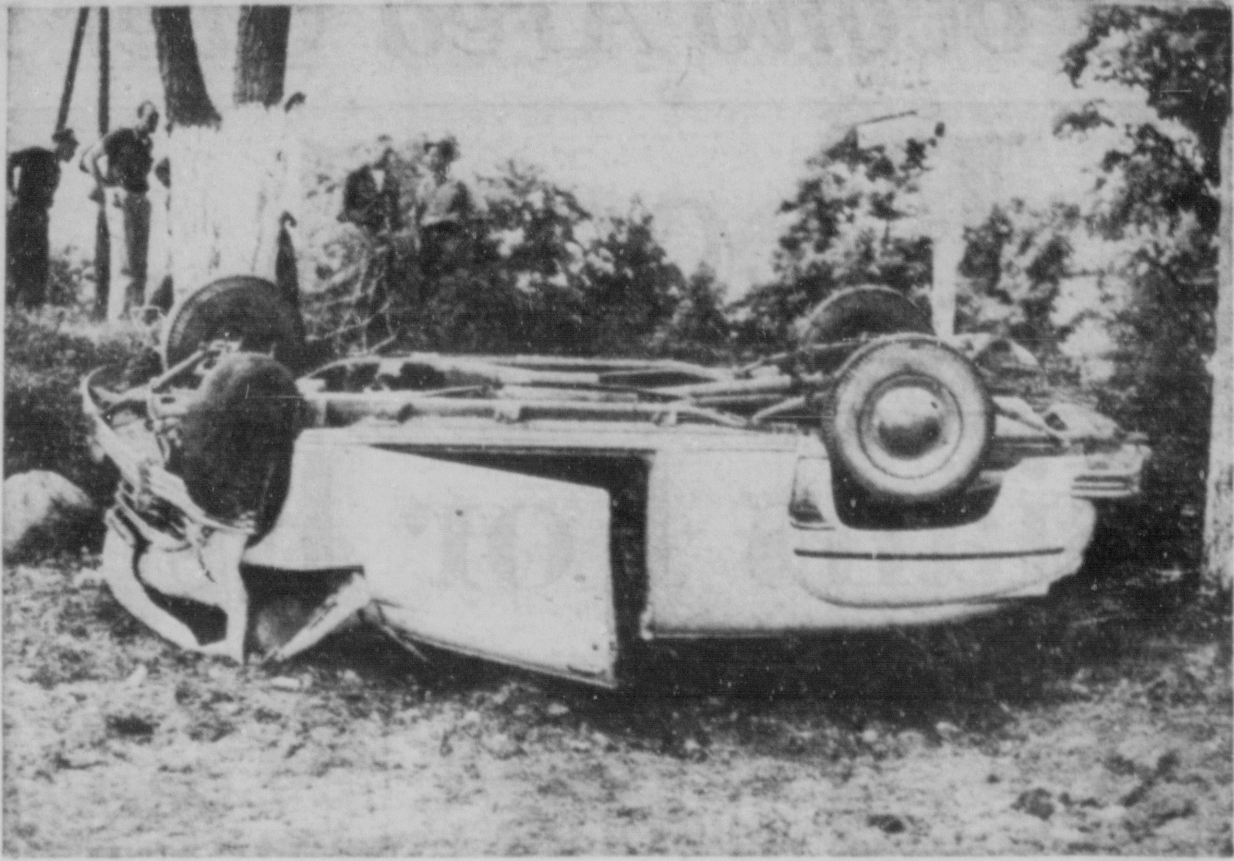

HOWEVER, despite the lack of primary voting, Republicans usually make a good race in the general election with many registered Democrats crossing to vote for Republican nominees.

The GOP race for the U. S. Senate is the best offered by the minority party. Raymond H. Fields, Guyton publisher, and Fred M. Mock, former U. S. district attorney, are top contenders in the race.

Pentagon Keeps Watchful Eye On Indochina, Ready To Halt Supplies If French Collapse

WASHINGTON AP — American defense officials are standing astride the pipeline of military supplies to Indochina, ready to shut the valve if French resistance collapses.

All current weapons shipments are being scrutinized carefully, too, to reduce the chances of equipment falling into the hands of the advancing Red Vietnamese forces.

Pentagon officials disclosed that as the situation in Indochina deteriorates they are considering the possibility of giving the French a hand in pulling out essential manpower and equipment. The U. S. Air Force already has evacuated some French wounded from Indochina.

ONE PLAN would be to use the port of Haiphong as an evacuation point, providing that shipping could enter the harbor. Haiphong is about 80 miles southeast of strategic Hanoi, which is now under heavy pressure from the Reds.

The French have maintained in their discussions with American authorities that Haiphong could be defended by a combination of land and naval guns against strong Communist forces.

THE UNITED STATES has sent the French and loyal Vietnamese forces about one billion dollars worth of military supplies in the last three years. Pentagon officials said it would be difficult to determine precisely how much of this has been used up.

They said the French have clear title to the arms they have already received and that this country can do little about their destroying it or abandoning it to the Reds during their withdrawal.

BUT THEY pointed out that a considerable portion of the dollar value of equipment already sent to Indochina is in aircraft, small naval vessels and heavier types of fighting gear based well to the rear of the combat lines. A lot of this can be saved, they said.

Shipments now going to Indochina are financed by the 300 million dollar aid program Congress authorized last year. About 308 million dollars worth of arms have been allocated to the French for the fiscal year which began July 1.

In addition, a bill just passed by the House authorizes an 800 million dollar fund for the defense of Indochina. This would be spent elsewhere in Southeast Asia if French resistance in Indochina collapses.

The Harris Thrift House will be closed from July 3 to 12, inclusive.—Adv.

Dear Sir:

The growing volume of litter along America's streets and highways, in its parks and on its beaches, concerns everyone who takes pride in the appearance of his community. What was a minor nuisance only a few years ago has become a major problem.

Here and there individual citizens or groups have undertaken to combat the litter problem locally. In some areas, notably California, this activity has assumed statewide proportions. A few national organizations—among them the National Council of State Garden Clubs, for which I am privileged to speak as president—have recognized the seriousness of the situation and have urged that anti-litter activities be incorporated in the action programs of their member groups at state and local levels.

The public interest in these independent efforts indicates a widespread desire for an anti-litter plan that can be applied to the entire nation.

It is most encouraging, therefore, to find that a group of the nation's foremost industrial leaders not only share our concern but have taken an aggressive step toward the elimination of litter from the American scene.

I refer to the recent organization announcement of Keep America Beautiful, Inc., a non-profit corporation established for the express purpose of combating litter. For the benefit of those of your readers who may not know of this new organization I would like to explain that it represents a joint effort by industry and citizen groups to cope with the litter problem on a national basis.

Its program has three principal objectives:

- 1-To create a public awareness of litter and of the individual's responsibility for it.
- 2-To stimulate widespread public participation in cleaning up existing litter.
- 3-To prevent future litter by a combination of education, public opinion pressure and law enforcement.

Industry is contributing generously to the program.

two or three times a week, during the past year, and have not been held up as much as five minutes, more than a dozen times.

While I am not a traffic expert, I doubt the wisdom of spending a great amount of money to relieve a situation that is serious only a few days during the tourist season, if that situation can be relieved in some inexpensive way.

Here is a method to relieve the trouble at once, with nominal expense.

At Delaware Water Gap when traffic is extra heavy, send all who are going to north 209, by way of 402 to Marshalls Creek. Send all who are going to north 90, by way of Franklin Hill. Send all who are going to 611, north of Mount Pocono by way of route 90 to Paradise Valley and then across to 611.

Here is a suggestion for directing traffic as indicated above. By a large sign east of Delaware Water Gap, request all drivers to points north, to stop for instructions. Give each one a mimeographed or printed map and instructions for finding their way. Cover the sign when it is not needed. Do the same at the toll gate.

Then put a few roadside signs.

Mrs. Albertson Stranded In Hotel Elevator, Rides Up And Down 10 Stories For 45 Minutes

Itself began to take interest.

"We couldn't make ourselves heard by shouting because the drum and bugle corps was playing in the lobby and it was jammed with people and there was so much noise and excitement. So we just rode up and down."

One of the women was elderly and on the stout side. She was first to pass out, Mrs. Albertson said. The men held her up as best they could. Then another woman went down.

WHEN ATTENTION finally focused on the elevator, things began to happen violently but without much effect at first.

Firemen were summoned. They started swinging their axes to chop through the elevator door. This was in the lobby, and even the drum and bugle corps stopped playing. The people in the elevator could see nothing, however, because the steel cubicle had no window at all.

They could only hear the smash as the axes hit the door without doing more than denting them. Sterner measures were needed. Next thing used was the battering ram—a heavy log also wielded by the firemen.

WHAM... WHAM... WHAM! The 14 in the elevator squeezed back in one corner. The unconscious ones were held. After a while the ram bent in the bottom of the steel doors a little. Hands passed in ice cubes and water through the crack. Then oxygen was pumped through the crack while the battering ram slammed again and again against the door.

Mrs. Albertson said they finally made a space of about 18 inches by prying and ramming back the bottom of the doors. She was out cold by that time, she said, and didn't see the wind-up.

An hour and a half after the doors had closed on the 14 people, all were free again, and firemen were working with oxygen over five unconscious women in the lobby. As soon as possible they were loaded on stretchers.

MRS. ALBERTSON was one of the first to revive.

She saw a "very determined-looking young reporter or newspaper photographer" about to take pictures. The management told him not to. He was set to take a shot anyway when "the house detectives collared him and put him out," Mrs. Albertson said.

The five women, and another who passed out from reaction after she was freed, were all taken to the hospital and kept for about eight hours. Then, simply, they all returned to the hotel.

AT PRESENT Mrs. Albertson is trying to recuperate at her home, 1084 Dreher Ave. What tickles her is that just a year earlier, at the district convention in Philadelphia's Bellevue-Stratford she spent 45 minutes in a jammed elevator.

"If it happens again, I won't tell The Record—I'll tell Ripley," she said.

He was William Fissette, 46, Bethlehem. Police said his car rolled over and came to rest on its top. The convertible auto had about $500 damages, but Fissette was reported just shaken up.

THE AUTO of Calvin A. Burk, 26, Bethlehem, ran off Route 309 at 4 a. m. Sunday while traveling south, Milford police said, and upset near Promised Land.

The crash was attributed in part to highway reconstruction work there. Police said the car plunged into a highway excavation, went out of control and rolled over. Damages were $900 but the driver was uninjured.

Later the same day Milford troopers were called to Bushkill, where a car ran off Route 209 and two occupants were injured.

THEY WERE the driver, Pearl Zassman, 23, Brooklyn, N. Y., who suffered a bruised nose, and her passenger, Molly Munich, 30, Brooklyn with cuts over the left eye, on the head, and body bruises. Damages were estimated at $150. Both women were taken by passing motorists to East Stroudsburg General Hospital.

In the single accident in Mount Pocono Borough, a dump truck and two cars were involved. It occurred at noon yesterday at the intersection of Routes 611 and 615.

Officer William Post said the truck was driven by Joseph Faircloth, 18, Tamaqua. He was about to enter Route 611 from Route 615 when his brakes failed and he was unable to stop, Post said.

THE TRUCK struck the southbound car of Edward W. Engel, 50, Bellrose, N. Y., and shoved it into the northbound lane, where it in turn hit the car of Morris F. Jacobs, 51, Jersey City, N. J.

The three vehicles wound up in the center of the intersection, almost touching each other, Post said.

Injured were: Mrs. Lillian Engel, 52, cuts and bruises on the lips and knees; Mrs. Pauline Jacobs, 41, cuts over the left eye and shock; and her son, Phillip, 11, a cut on the left arm. All were treated at the office of Dr. E. O. Hendrick, Mount Pocono, Post said.

DAMAGES were estimated as $200 to the dump truck, $200 to the Engel car and $400 to the Jacobs car.

Fern Ridge troopers reported a $1,400 accident at Millhoney at 1 a. m. yesterday, in which four young people narrowly escaped injury.

Driver was Robert Helmbone, 17, Wilkes-Barre, police said. The car was traveling north on Route 115 and struck the dividing island at the junction with Route 209. The vehicle rolled over, and was reported demolished.

Police Hunt Murder Weapon As Inquiry Continues Into Slaying Of Osteopath's Wife

CLEVELAND (AP)—An intensive search failed yesterday to turn up the weapon a mysterious killer used to smash the face and skull of pretty Mrs. Marilyn R. Sheppard, 31, the wife of a suburban doctor.

Two tooth chips which lay on the bloody bed where the slain woman's body was found early Sunday morning proved to be from her own teeth, Coroner Samuel R. Gerber said. Earlier it was thought they were from the mouth of her assailant.

Her husband, Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard, 30, an osteopath, was questioned further yesterday by police at Bay View Hospital where he was reported recovering "satisfactorily" from head bruises and cuts he said were inflicted on him by his wife's killer.

DR. SHEPPARD told detectives he was dozing on a couch downstairs when he thought he heard his wife scream. As he was going up the steps, he said, he was slugged on the back of the neck. From that point on, his memories were vague. He recalled blacking out when he saw his wife's disfigured body and later telephoning for help.

Coroner Gerber said Mrs. Sheppard had been struck some 25 times on the head and face and died of skull fractures. He said the blows were on the front, sides and back of her head, and that no blunt weapon of the type used had yet been located. He said she had not been raped.

POLICE continued to pursue the theory that the killer ransacked the Sheppards' house looking for narcotics. A search was made yesterday for 30 cubic centimeters of a synthetic morphine believed to be missing from the doctor's supplies.

Among the puzzling aspects of the killing were the reports that the couple's 7-year-old son, Sammy Jr., remained asleep in the room next to where his mother was bludgeoned and the family's dog, Koko, was not heard to bark. A neighbor said the dog's barking usually awakens him in the morning, but on the morning of the slaying he was found by police running around outside the house.

THE SHEPPARDS, high school sweethearts here, were married in 1945 in Los Angeles while he was interning there. They were expecting another child next fall.

Puerto Ricans To Be Released

JERSEY CITY, N. J. (AP)—Authorities said yesterday two men held since Saturday as possible members of a bitterly anti-United States Puerto Rico terrorist organization probably will be released today.

The pair, Jose Angel Bonilla, 22, and Miguel Angelo Rivera, 19, both of Jersey City, was picked up on an alarm from Maryland State Police after reportedly being spotted Friday in a car along a route President Eisenhower sometimes takes in his Catocin Mountain retreat in Western Maryland.

Police said Bonilla and Rivera were questioned by Secret Service men and apparently "are in the clear" on any connection with a Puerto Rican Nationalist group that shot up the House of Representatives and made an attempt on the life of former President Truman.

slaying, a neighbor couple and their children were guests of the Sheppards at supper, and the parents returned later in the evening after putting their children to bed. While the guests, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Ahern, watched television with Mrs. Sheppard, the doctor fell asleep on the couch. The Aherns said he was there when they left shortly after midnight.

Mayor J. Spencer Houk of Bay Village, and his wife Esther, arrived about 5:40 a. m. in answer to Dr. Sheppard's telephoned plea: "For God's sake, Spencer, get over here quick; I think they've killed Marilyn."

Reduced Auto Insurance Rates Okayed

$4.3 Million Annual Saving Takes Effect

HARRISBURG (AP)—The state insurance department has approved new automobile insurance rates designed to save Pennsylvania motorists an estimated $4,340,000 a year.

Artemas C. Leslie, insurance commissioner, said the revisions, effective yesterday, affect comprehensive coverage which usually involves fire and theft and $50 and $100 deductible collision policies.

Property and personal injury insurance for automobile owners are not included in the revisions.

THE CHANGES are made on a territorial basis and vary according to loss experience in the different territories.

The revisions include:

Philadelphia — Comprehensive coverage, no change; $50 deductible, 8.2 per cent cut; $100 deductible, 8.6 per cent cut.

Suburban Philadelphia — Comprehensive, no change; $50 deductible, 10.9 per cent cut; $100 deductible, 10.1 per cent cut.

Pittsburgh—Comprehensive, 10.7 per cent increase; $50 deductible, 11½ per cent; $100 deductible, 12.1 per cent cut.

SUBURBAN Pittsburgh — Comprehensive, no change; $50 deductible, 11½ per cent cut; $100 deductible, 12.1 per cent cut.

Scranton—Carbondale, Wilkes-Barre-Pittston, Berks, Dauphin, Lehigh and Northampton Counties — Comprehensive, no change; $50 deductible, 8.1 per cent cut; $100 deductible, 11.2 per cent cut.

Adams, Cumberland, Franklin, Lancaster, Lebanon and York Counties—No change in any of the three categories.

REMAINDER of the state — Comprehensive, no change; $50 deductible 3.6 per cent cut; $100 deductible, 5 per cent cut.

In addition, commercial local hauling collision premiums for $50 deductible coverage were reduced about 5½ per cent and $100 deductible, by 8 per cent. There is an increase of 9 per cent in $250 deductible coverage in this category.

Scientists Request Restudy Of U.S. Security Program In Rap At Oppenheimer Decision

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federation of American Scientists, criticizing the handling of the Oppenheimer case, called on President Eisenhower yesterday to appoint a board to re-assess the government's security program.

"Whether the security of the United States has gained or lost will depend upon the degree to which the lessons of the Oppenheimer case are appreciated by officials and the public," the Federation's Executive Committee said in a statement released by Ernest C. Pollard, Yale physicist and vice chairman of the Federation.

DR. J. ROBERT Oppenheimer, who pioneered work on the atomic bomb, was declared a security risk last week by the Atomic Energy Commission and his connections with the commission were terminated. Four of the five commissioners held Oppenheimer was disqualified because of "defects of character" and dangerous associations with Communists.

The scientists' statement said: "THE MAJORITY'S case against Oppenheimer based itself on a handful of incidents, relating in large part to events of over 10 years ago, taken out of the context of a distinguished career and a record of brilliant, loyal service to the nation almost unmatched in importance."

"Yet the allegations of 'defects in his character' and 'his Communist associations' growing out of these incidents were considered controlling."

Asserting the effects of the case cannot yet "even be estimated," the statement said:

"PROCEDURALLY, the Oppenheimer case appears to have run its full course. But the verdict which circumstances dictated has not removed the doubts and apprehensions widely held by many thoughtful citizens who have examined the issues in this case."

"A program which, in the quest for 100 per cent security, unnecessarily rejects the services of men of great talent ceases to serve its function properly."

"We call upon President Eisenhower to appoint a board of responsible citizens of various backgrounds, including scientists, to reassess the present security program."

"THE NEGATIVE aspects of 'security by exclusion' must be put in perspective against the positive aspects of 'security by achievement.'"

"Bad Press!"

The Stroudsburgs and Pocono Mountains hit all the news media from newspapers to television during the Fourth of July holiday weekend with a type of publicity which brought to the region uncalculated damage.

Lack of an adequate thruway around the Stroudsburg bottleneck not only set back vacation plans of thousands of tourists, but in some instances created hundreds of dollars worth of damage to many automobiles.

Collision of Route 611 traffic with equally heavy, and at times greater, traffic on Route 209 in Stroudsburg did the trick.

It wasn't long before auto clubs, travel bureaus, the radio, television and newspapers were advising their listeners and readers to start their trip two hours ahead of schedule if their destination was the Poconos or some point which involved traveling through the Poconos.

A traffic strangle at Stroudsburg causing a "two hour travel delay" was the word passed on to thousands of people throughout eastern United States.

Rev. Luther E. Markin, minister of Delaware Water Gap Presbyterian Church who with Bennett Strait of Water Gap came to the rescue of motorists stranded on Foxtown Hill, estimated at one time 40 or 50 cars were disabled.

Inching along in three lanes, the cars were backed up almost to the borough limits of Water Gap. Overheated motors boiled away the fluid in radiators. Strait and Rev. Markin went to their rescue with a tank of water.

Their efforts aided many, but in many other cases damage to car motors was so excessive that some motorists were unable to get cars going Sunday. A number of motors were virtually ruined.

Traffic on Route 209, both East and West through Stroudsburg, sailed along smoothly until it contacted Route 611 traffic here. Then it jammed up.

Extra police at all Stroudsburg intersections labored expertly, but even their efforts could not eliminate what almost amounted to an "irresistible force meeting an immovable object."

It was a very dramatic demonstration that a bypass plan which fails to eliminate collision of traffic from Route 611 with traffic from Route 209 in Stroudsburg is worthless.

It was absolute proof that a thruway outside Stroudsburg with a proper traffic interchange for travel on these two major routes is the ONLY proper solution to a situation now giving the Pocono Mountains the worst type of publicity.

Britain's Independence

After more than 14 years of food control, British wives tore up their ration books July 4th as "Independence Day" came to those who have been on what well-fed Americans might term a starvation diet.

Actually, the importance of the day was more psychological than physical, for ample food has been available in Great Britain for some time. Yet we who have never suffered more than minor annoyance insofar as getting whatever food we wanted at any time, can scarcely visualize the difficulties of our allies where the daily food for the table is concerned.

It was in January of 1940 that strict food rationing began for Britons, with bacon, sugar, and butter placed under rigid control. This was essential since almost two-thirds of Britain's food came from abroad, and Hitler's submarines were pinching off the supplies. Meat in general was rationed in March of 1940, with margarine, lard and tea . . . most important to any Briton . . . following four months later.

In the spring of 1941, months before Pearl Harbor, their meat ration was at its World War II low: 20 cents worth of meat per person per week, or about one and a half lamb chops at the prices kept down by government subsidies. And as recently as September, 1952, the meat ration was up only to 28 cents a week, or enough for three-quarters of a pound of stewing meat or a one-day orgy of one pork chop.

What one of us can envisage such a thing in our food-rich United States of America?

The Once Over

—by H. I. Phillips

New York is throwing a super-duper Summer Festival, with a special bid for the visiting firemen, especially those coming to the big city for the first time.

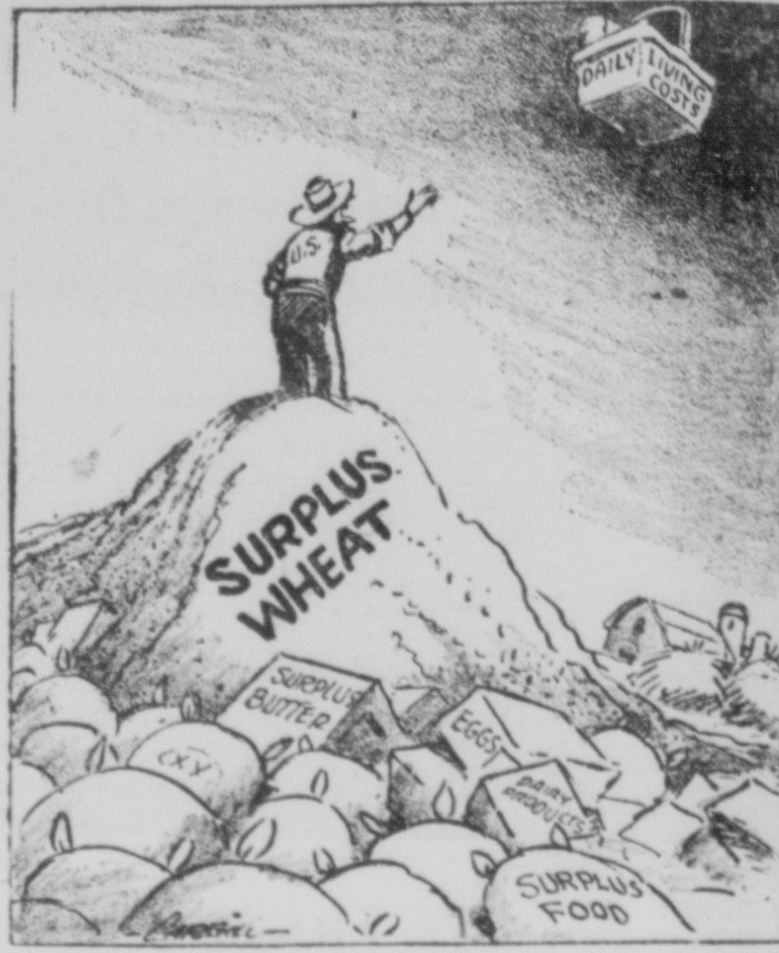

What a look there is in the initial visit to the metropolis . . . And how much bigger it will be when the city itself is going all out to extend the glad hand, put its best foot (and skyscraper) forward and help the tourist see the sights! Our first trip to Gotham was made when the big town wasn't in the party mood or going out of its way to see that a visitor had fun. We remember we were too awed to get beyond the Times Square area and kept looking back at the Knickerbocker Hotel at Broadway and 42nd street, so we wouldn't lose our bearings. The great attraction of that trip was not any amusement place, skyscraper, nightclub or Broadway noisemaker; it was the free lunch at the Knickerbocker bar!

We saw nothing like it before and today it seems incredible . . . tables loaded with great sides of hot roast beef, lamb, turkeys, salads, soups, cakes, pies and what-not, all for free to the cash customer, even if he bought merely a nickel glass of beer. Waiters carved and served, with only a glance of mild disfavor at a second trip by a free loader. We don't remember paying for any meals while on that first trip. But along about the end of the third day we knew we would have to wear a beard or depart. Later we came to New York to extend our rambles, but had heard so much about the desperate character of life in a big city

We remember our amazement that the East Side waterfront knew no beautification whatever, with tenements, breweries, hardware stores, salons and slaughter houses marking its full length . . . The Hippodrome was always packed and the big act was the ballet which disappeared under the water, a stunt which is today revived at the Jones Beach water show . . . Everybody went to the Palace . . . Gallagher & Shean were the rage there . . .

THE GREAT BEYOND

Robert S. Allen Reports

Clay May Get Job Directing South Korea Rehabilitation

Washington. — President Eisenhower is considering a spectacular proposal to put life into the long-stymied program to rehabilitate war-ravaged South Korea. It's to turn the desperately-needed job over to General Lucius Clay.

The dramatic appointment is being urged on the ground the one-time occupation commander in Germany has the stature, ability and forcefulness to deal effectively with the main obstacle that has prevented the rehabilitation program from getting underway.

This frustrating obstruction is President Syngman Rhee. The aged ruler's unyielding demand that control over the hundreds of millions of dollars of rehabilitation funds be put in his imperious hands, his persistent disregard of agreements and other troublesome antics have blocked for a year all efforts to begin the economic reconstruction of his shattered country.

Rhee has vehemently barred anything from being done rather than let others whom he can't dominate do it.

One tragic result of his self-centered intransigence is the following: Although Congress last year voted $200,000,000 for South Korean rehabilitation, up to July 1 only about $40,000,000 had been expended — mostly for food. Even that outlay was only in the last few months. Between July 1, 1952, and February 1, 1954, the total spent amounted only to $7,300,000.

This shocking situation is due entirely to Rhee's obstructionism.

Note: Clay, West Point classmate of the President, is now board chairman of Continental Can Corporation. In the private discussions about going to Korea, Clay has given no indication whether he would accept the tough job. But it is felt he would respond if the President urged him to.

MAKING HAY — In contrast to this dismal record, the Reds are very busy in North Korea.

It is being assiduously converted into a Chinese province, but a great deal of construction and industrial activity is in progress. In that regard the Communists are creating a striking comparison to the do-nothing situation in South Korea under Rhee's high-handed obstructionism.

The House Foreign Affairs Committee has a blunt report on this and its serious implications.

The author is C. Tyler Wood, economic coordinator in South Korea, who has been struggling for months with Rhee to get the rehabilitation program underway. Wood is conscientious and capable, but no match for the militant ruler. That's why Pentagon and State Department authorities are urging General Clay's appointment.

Tyler's unpublished report frankly warns about the danger of letting the stalemate continue while the Reds build up North Korea. Following is what he says:

"The Communists have shifted their strategy against the Republic of Korea from a military campaign to economic and political pressure. As a result, the economic reconstruction of the Republic of Korea has assumed tremendous immediate importance, an importance which takes on new significance and urgency in view of the extraordinary relief and rehabilitation efforts of Russia and Red China in North Korea."

"The reconstruction of the Republic of Korea must be pressed despite the very great political and economic obstacles that exist there. Quick or easy success for our efforts cannot be expected."

More Rhee-in — In addition to stalling the rehabilitation of his country, Rhee is hotly roving with Washington on still another explosive problem.

The ROK President is demanding what amounts to a veto over rearming Japan.

He is violently opposed to American plans on that.

They call for providing the Japanese with more than $575,000,000 in military equipment over a period of several years. Virtually all of it would come from U. S. reserves, including a number of mothballed naval vessels, four of them destroyers.

Rhee is threatening to denounce this program and to fight its being carried through.

He is also demanding that the U. S. fork over another $300,000,000 in military aid to South Korea. In addition to the $300,000,000 already spent yearly to equip and maintain the 20 ROK divisions.

This strictly military outlay is in addition to the $200,000,000 Congress voted last fiscal year for economic aid and rehabilitation, and the $252,000,000 for that purpose in the new budget. Total appropriations for South Korea amount to more than $600,000,000 a year.

Rhee's repeated threats to resume fighting if no peace agreement is reached with the Reds were brought up during the White House Conference with top Republican and Democratic leaders.

"He is constantly sounding off about reopening the war if he doesn't get his way," said Representative Carl Vinson (D., Ga.), former chairman of the House Armed Services Committee. "If that just bombast, or is there real danger he will do it?"

"The best answer to that question," replied President Eisenhower, "is to ask another one: How much fighting can he do against the Communists without our help?"

Connecticut Gov. John Lodge Faces Some Tough Re-Election Problems

Governor John Lodge of Connecticut is up for re-election in the Nutmeg State. The Democrats have nominated Abraham Ribicoff, who ran for United States Senator in 1952, was defeated but produced 90,000 votes more than the rest of the Democratic ticket.

It is not questioned but that John Lodge has been an effective governor. Also, he is an inept politician. As one of the functions of a man who chooses elective office as a career is to get himself re-elected, John Lodge is in trouble. He has not kept his party together; in fact, he has purged it of most of its tried leaders, some of whom were old-guard and others were too old-guard to please him.

Into this picture steps the vivacious and forceful Vivian Kellems who is running for governor on the Independent Republican Party ticket. Estimates of what Miss Kellems can pull run from a low of 25,000 to a high of 100,000. Miss Kellems can draw votes only from Lodge, none from Ribicoff. Even the low figure, in this election and for this state, could defeat the Republican, Prescott Bush was elected to the United States Senate in 1952 by only 29,000 votes.

Abraham Ribicoff has the reputation of being an extraordinarily competent person, handsome, a brilliant orator, with no personal liabilities. He served in the House of Representatives. He and his wife and children were born and educated in Connecticut. He is a Jew by religion.

John Lodge is also able, handsome and a good speaker, who can use Italian as well as English which is an advantage in Connecticut. He is an Eisenhower Republican. He had served a spell as a motion picture actor and in the Navy. His wife is of Italian origin and a beautiful woman.

All things considered, Lodge should have the advantage. Unfortunately the Republican Party in Connecticut, while strong in the counties, is split state-wide. I shall cite an example: The Chairman of the Republican County Committee of Fairfield County, one of the most important in the state, is Bill Brennan. He is a powerful politician with a wide following. On the eve of the 1952 Convention, Lodge purged Brennan as National Committeeman because he was for Taft.

The purge was swift and unpleasant and left a permanent mark upon Brennan and his followers. I happened to be present at a public testimonial dinner in honor of Brennan shortly after the event and noted with no little surprise that official after official, including the Lieutenant Governor, was called upon to make a few remarks. It was a demonstration of continuing power.

While whenever I have met Republican politicians in Connecticut they speak well of John Lodge personally, they seem to go out of their way to praise the Democratic candidate, Abraham Ribicoff. It is an unusual demonstration of lack of partisanship in

There was something strange about my doctor. It wasn't anything very noticeable, but he did look a little bit like a cat that has just swallowed a nice, juicy canary.

"Yes, it is," he admitted modestly but proudly. "All my life I have wanted a diamond ring, and now I got it. I bought it myself — maybe it's foolish, but it does signify to me that I have achieved what I never had when I was a child — financial independence."

Then he told me how poor his parents had been, how he could never get the things he wanted and that other boys had.

He told me how, when he was just a small youngster, he had to make a baseball out of old string, because there wasn't enough money to buy a real ball.

He told me how, up to now, the proudest moment of his life had been when he could buy his boy a baseball bat, a real baseball and a regulation baseball bat. When he saw his kid's eyes light up and when he heard the boy say only one word, "Gee!" that, he thought, was the acme of all success.

But somehow or other it was a PERSONAL diamond ring he had always wanted.

In his youth the successful "gentlemen" he saw always used to sport diamond rings and stickpins. Stickpins, he knew, had gone out of style — but the ring, that was still his one insignia of success.

But somehow or other it was a PERSONAL diamond ring he had always wanted.

On Broadway

—by Walter Winchell

The Broadway Lights
The Stage: Variety reports that Margaret Truman's salary (along The Rooster Route) is $1,500 weekly plus 50 p.c. of the take. Her probable average: $2,500 . . . The Barnyard Circuit is now in the Big Biz dept. Several Summer playhouses are grossing over $25,000 weekly.

ly. That's more than many Broadway clicks are collecting . . . Two Broadway hits faded last night, "Ondine" (with Audrey Hepburn and Mel Ferrer) departed and "Wonderful Town" migrated to Chicago . . . Five other shows are not expected to survive the humidity . . . "The Golden Apple" pays its musicians and chorines $4500 weekly . . . The owner of the dog in "The King of Hearts" receives $175 per. That's more than the designer's royalties . . . The 1954-55 season's official inaugural (in September) will be overwhelming. Only a single opening scheduled for the entire month . . . The girl decorating the ads for The Latin Quarter is Jeanne Tarr, a newcomer to the showshops . . . A month ago she was the receptionist on the 5th floor at WABC-TV, 7 West 66th Street. A lovely-looking blonde.

The Cinemagicians: "Mr. Hulot's Holiday" is a French Jolly-palooza crowded with delightful humor. Most of it is in pantomime . . . "El Alamein" is a war film that dies fighting for mediocrity . . . The best of the heart-wrenchers is "Mrs. Leslie" starring Shirley Booth, who guarantees ever high . . . "Paris Model" co-stars Pish & Tush . . . "Man With a Million" (starring Gregory Peck) glitters sporadically. The cast is fine . . . "The Royal Tour of Queen Elizabeth" rates your curtsy for its camera-magic . . . "The High and the Mighty" (with John Wayne) was greeted with warm reviews. It'll scare you out of flying.

The Telebrities: If provocative microforms are your dish then NBC's "As Others See Us" is the blue-plate special. A panel of European newspeople spout their impressions of the U. S. . . . Imagine being an anonymous star. The star of "The Stranger," a drama series, is exactly what the title implies. He gets no billing. They call it showmanship . . . The columnist who battles the underworld is back on the networks. An unbelievable chap . . . Tevye cameramen thrilled viewers when they caught Willie May's close-up making an acrobatic catch during the Giants-Dodgers thriller . . . Anything original and amusing is almost illegal among teevy comedies. It is a pleasure to toss a posy at Jack Parr, who is both.

The Intelligentsia: Theater lovers complain that the stage is having its worst era in history. Because, they say, the times aren't right for the theater . . . In England, during Cromwell's 29 year reign, it was against the law to put on a play . . . In France, under Louis the 14th, a playwright could lose his head if his work was suspected of being critical of the gov't. . . . The great Moliere was forced to flee Paris after one of his comedies, "Tartuffe," was staged . . . Shaw, greatest of the modern playwrights, couldn't get his plays produced (in Victorian England) for a decade. That's why he became a critic. To earn enough to live on . . . Euripides, the greatest playwright of his time, was rated a flop all his life . . . He did not gain recognition until 2000 years after he passed.

The Story-Tellers: Readers Digest's "The Facts Behind the Cigarette Controversy" is a timely piece . . . Edmund Dulac of the Satepost finishes a cartoon in about 20 minutes and is through for the week . . . Bernard Wolfe, author of a new book about Broadway, once ghosted columns for one of the locals . . . "Across the Street From the Courthouse" (Dorrence Press) is by Justice M. A. Musmanno of the Penn. Supreme Court. He presided at the Nuremberg trials of Nazi war criminals . . . "Row's End," a new novel, is by Louis Cochran, an ex-FBI Agent . . . Page 6 of T. V. Magazine for September features "the most beautiful girl in the world" shown with this column-conductor . . . "The Dark Lady," a British novel due in September, will startle you. The man character is Wm. Shakespeare, who, according to the author, was "really a girl."

The Magazines: Esquire demonstrates that beauty is International by showing a thing or two about Italy's Silvana Mangano and Martins Carol of France . . . Time confirms the grin truth about our foreign cousins: "The U. S.," it says, "has no strong, reliable ally." Which is what this newscaster has been arguing for months . . . Recession? American Magazine reports that half a dozen blue chip companies are expanding . . . A piece in Real Magazine contends that sex damages the careers of professional athletes . . . Holiday stresses what made Yankee Doodle a Dandy . . . Incredibly, only one-third of the colonists supported Geo. Washington's revolution. Which makes the wonder of our liberty more wonderful . . .

THE Wyckoff SHOPPER

If the truth were known, almost everyone is haunted by some pleasant remembrance that he would give his most prized possession to recapture even briefly. It might be an incident one longs to re-live. It might be a taste, a color, or a fragrance, precious because of the happiness and sense of well-being that once surrounded it. Such was the case with one of our visitors last week.

A resident of Keopert, N. J., Mrs. Kathleen Lufburrow has long cherished the memory of a shopping trip made thirty or more years ago in the company of an aunt. The store she particularly remembered was located here in Stroudsburg. Its name evaded her, but it was a big, friendly place where they purchased, among other things, several dainty bags filled with lavender. Looking back, it has always seemed to Mrs. Lufburrow that those bags were the most exquisite she could ever hope to find. Someday, she promised herself, she would locate the store and ask if similar sachets were still being sold.

Just last week, a friend, Mrs. Betty Pettinato, suggested that they drive to East Stroudsburg to visit Mrs. Pettinato's mother, Mrs. William Peacock. Mrs. Lufburrow was delighted, and wondered if they might also visit "that big store in Stroudsburg". Her description applied so aptly to Wyckoff's, that our store was made the first port of call, and Mrs. Lufburrow recognized it immediately as the one associated so pleasantly with her childhood.

When I met her, she was purchasing several pairs of earrings, and having a wonderful time. But she was still thinking of those lavender sachets. Having captured a dream half way, she was determined that the rest must follow. I do hope that it did, for only rarely are we fortunate enough to capture again the treasured moments of our past. And only with God's very special grace do we find them as beautiful and satisfying as they were "once long ago".

It was announced 13 posts in the district went over to top in membership. The 82 delegates, representing a membership of 9,644 in

Mechanical Brain Put In Operation

PHILADELPHIA—Metropolitan Edison Co. is one of seven major power companies jointly sponsoring a giant "mechanical brain" which was placed in operation at Franklin Institute here Thursday.

O. Titus, MECO president, explained the machine is designed to solve in a short time the complex problems involved in maintaining and expanding power systems which ordinarily require weeks or months to work out.

The $400,000 analyzing device is a miniature power system which will help utilities plan to meet the constantly increasing demand, Titus said.

The district approved 47 resolutions to be acted upon at state convention in Philadelphia July 22-24.

Magistrate Drops Blonde's Complaint Against Beatty

LONDON (AP)—A magistrate yesterday dismissed an assault complaint brought against Earl Beatty, 49, by an attractive blonde who claimed she had talked with the spirit of his father, the late Adm. Lord Beatty.

Magistrate Frank Milton said Margaret Evans, 32, in seeking a summons, was "actuated either by the wildest of hallucinations or by the deepest of malice."

Miss Evans testified she had contacted the spirit of Adm. Beatty, who died in 1936, and he told her to "get help" from his son.

Since 1945 she has written numerous letters to Beatty, who denied ever meeting the woman.

She served 28 days in jail in 1947 for disobeying a court order to stop molesting Beatty.

Beatty's American wife, Lady Adele Beatty, 33, is engaged in a transatlantic tussle with her former husband, California Deputy Gen. William V. O'Connor.

While the Beattys were cruising aboard their yacht in the Mediterranean, O'Connor came to London and flew back to California with his son, Timothy, 7. O'Connor said he wanted to rear the boy as an American. Lady Beatty said she would seek to regain her son in court action in the United States.

TIMOTHY O'CONNOR, 7, plays with his father, William V. O'Connor, chief deputy attorney general of California, in a Los Angeles swimming pool. An international custody battle is in the making as O'Connor's former wife, Countess Adele Beatty (born in the United States), is preparing to fly from London to Los Angeles for a showdown with her ex-husband, who made off with his son last week. She was yachting in the Mediterranean at the time.

MR. AND MRS. Ralph Hoffner and children, Fay and Paul, of Saylorsburg, visited Mr. and Mrs. Chester Adams in their new home in Wooddale recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Metzgar were recent dinner guests of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Frantz, in Scotrun.

Mrs. John McCauley visited Mr. and Mrs. Harold Osmun and daughter, Betty, in Columbia, N. J., last week. The Osmuns were formerly of the Manzanada Club. Mr. Osmun is now a patient in the Monroe County General Hospital.

Mrs. John Repsher and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Lesoine called on Mrs. Sallie Henry and Clinton Staples Sunday. They also visited Mr. and Mrs. Alvin DeWitt Jr. and family in Marshalls Creek.

There was suspicion then that France was only playing for time. But so many of her top leaders got behind the plan, worked so hard to build up political support for it among the people and in the Parliament, that they eventually were credited by Britain and the United States with complete sincerity. But they never quite made the grade and, regardless of intent, three years of delay has resulted.

IT IS ALMOST inconceivable that France would, at the last ditch, let Germany be rearmament without, rather than within, EDC. But there is very strong danger that France will consider the Anglo-American activities as a bluff—which they could turn out to be. For it is also almost inconceivable that Britain and the United States would drop France as an ally in order to rearm Germany, and they would be coming very close to that.

Discussions Show Big 3 Badly Split

By J. M. Robert Jr.
AP News Analyst

THE ACTUAL state of Anglo-American discussions on how to give Western Germany her independence and to rearm her as one of the defenders of Western Europe, whether or not France agrees, is a fearful thing.

Taken together with the split between Britain and the United States over Asiatic policy, it reveals Big Three cooperation at its lowest ebb since Germany and Vichy controlled France during the war.

THE PROPOSALS now under study in London would give Germany almost complete independence within the present British and American occupation zones, where a German national army would be set up. They would leave France in occupation of her relatively small but important occupation zone along the Rhine. It would eliminate the Allied High Commission and eliminate the French voice in general German affairs.

Either that, the British and Americans are saying, or France must ratify the European Defense Community.

YOU WILL remember that France proposed the joint European army under an international controlling political council. It was an alternative to the first American suggestion that, in the face of possible Russian aggression, Germany could not continue as a military vacuum in the center of Europe.

There was suspicion then that France was only playing for time. But so many of her top leaders got behind the plan, worked so hard to build up political support for it among the people and in the Parliament, that they eventually were credited by Britain and the United States with complete sincerity. But they never quite made the grade and, regardless of intent, three years of delay has resulted.

IT IS ALMOST inconceivable that France would, at the last ditch, let Germany be rearmament without, rather than within, EDC. But there is very strong danger that France will consider the Anglo-American activities as a bluff—which they could turn out to be. For it is also almost inconceivable that Britain and the United States would drop France as an ally in order to rearm Germany, and they would be coming very close to that.

Girls Under 21 Eligible In Junior Jinx Contest

DO WE HAVE a Jinx Falkenburg in the Poconos?

Shawnee Inn and The Daily Record are looking for a girl in the Pocono area with qualifications similar to those that boosted Jinx Falkenburg McCrory to stardom in radio and TV.

Jinx Falkenburg and her husband Tex McCrory, of radio and TV fame, are sponsoring the contest now being conducted by the National Broadcasting Co. to find a "Junior Jinx". The contest is being conducted in ten different areas, including the Poconos.

THE eliminations to be held at Shawnee Inn on Saturday, Aug. 7 will produce a Miss Pocono. She will be one of the ten finalists in the "Junior Jinx" contest at Long Island Sunday, Sept. 12 where approximately 85,000 persons will gather to witness the annual Long Island Hospital Star Night . . . one of the nation's largest entertainment events featuring stage and TV stars . . . and the selection of Miss Junior Jinx.

A contract for personal radio and TV appearances, worth at least five thousand dollars in a year, and an all-expense paid two weeks vacation at El Rancho Vegas, including the flight by TWA will be awarded the winner of the "Junior Jinx" title. The winner also will immediately be sponsored by Tex and Jinx McCrory for radio and TV appearances.

CONTESTANTS for the Miss Pocono eliminations should send a recent picture plus a letter stating their qualifications to: Junior Jinx Contest, c/o Michael A. Devitt, Shawnee Inn, Shawnee-on-Delaware, Pa.

All that is required of the contestant is that she is under 21 (married or single), good looking enough to model, sportsminded
